Co-operative Tobacco Growers

The following correspondence between tobacco men who are known in this community gives further evidences of the success of the cooperative marketing in South Carolina:

Johnsonville, S. C., 9 21 22

Mr. C. A. Hancock,
Appomattox, Va.

Dear Sir:

How is the Association coming in your section? I am manager of warehouses at this place (Johnsonville, S. C.) Who have you for manager? I will be sent to some dark market in Virginia as I will not get through here in time for the bright markets. This is one of the greatest opportunities for the uplift and betterment of the farming class of people that was ever launched. Tell your people to rally to the call as one man. Now is their chance, take my word for it, they will never regret it. All the farmers are not in down here, but I do not believe there will be a dozen left out to the county next year. I take this liberty of writing you, because we have had some pleasant correspondence on the warehouse subject in the past, and remember with sincere gratefulness your kind consideration of me.

With best wishes and the very kindest personal regards, I am.

Very truly yours,
R. F. Connally.

Describing the success of the cooperative association in Eastern North Carolina R. L. Sanford at Richlands, N. C. has just written to Raleigh headquarters as follows:

"I was told by Mr. Thomas Scurry, Richland, N. C, a member of the association, that he sold last year on the auction market 3,322 pounds for $174 24 and this year he has delivered to the association 2,586 pounds and his advance loan was $177.33.

We are receiving for the Association here ten times the amount of the auction sales warehouse are selling.

Our system is the best for the farmer and he has awakened to the fact and says the cooperative marketing association shall be a success."

The flood gates of Cooperative Marketing opened last week when 9,000,000 pounds of tobacco from the organized growers of North Carolina and Virginia alone poured into the Tobacco Growers Cooperative Association.

Members of the Cooperative in North Carolina delivered 6,000,000 pounds of tobacco 4,500,000 pounds to the old belt and central markets and 1,500,000 pounds in Eastern North Carolina.

The Virginia growers placed 3,250,000 pounds of the weed on 18 cooperative floors within four days time. All the tobacco of 34 grades delivered on the opening day to 24 cooperative markets of the old belt were sold to leading manufacturers before the sun had set on the first day of the cooperative marketing in Western North Carolina and Virginia. Other heavy orders have reached the Association since the opening of the old belt markets and according to Richard R. Patterson, manager of the Leaf Department, the Association is selling at figures which are highly satisfactory as compared to the average prices on the auction floors

With each day's operation the cooperative system runs more smoothly and the enthusiasm of the growers within and without the Association is proven by the fact that 400 contracts of new members reached Raleigh headquarters during the past week, and the number of local organizations of the Association has risen to 298 in Western North Carolina.

Most of these locals supply their own detectives to watch for contract breakers, but as yet not a single case of contract breaking in the old belt has been reported to headquarters

Local organizations of the Tobacco Growers Cooperative Association are increasing in number throughout Eastern North Carolina and at a series of meetings held last week throughout the eastern belt association members pledged their support in reporting any cases of contract breaking on the part of local warehousemen or growers in their district.

Following the recent rains and the highly successful sales of Eastern Carolina tobacco large deliveries are expected this week from members in the eastern belt, while the enthusiastic support and heavy deliveries of the great majority of growers in Virginia and Western North Carolina who make up the membership of the association insure its complete success throughout the old belt.

Funds are being forwarded from the Richmond office of the tobacco cooperative to the friendly bank of South Carolina, which have become its depositories and the second cash advance will be paid to the South Carolina growers in the near future according to recent advices from the Richmond officers of the Association.

Buckingham

Three colored boys were arrested and tried before a Justice charged with robbing the store house of G W. Crews and they were sent on to the grand jury. These boys are quite young I think they are all in their teens.

Mr. J. P. Andrews and Mr. Walter Hundley motored to Richmond on Friday to attend the State Fair.

Two officers from the State accountants office were here last week examining the books of the county officers.

Miss Minnie Wood has been employed as a teacher in the Buckingham High school.

Miss Lucile Johnson has been appointed as a teacher for the St. Andrew's School.

A prominent man here joined the tobacco association and now he wishes he was not a member of the association because he is interested in an independent warehouse which will be operated this season.

Mrs. Myra Ellis, after a tour of Europe is a guest at Afton.

The tobacco crops are nearly cured up and the rain which came last Saturday was just what the farmers wanted.

A private letter from an old time business man who left here states that he is borrowing money at 10 per cent interest at his new home place.

The county school board met here on the first Monday and the members fixed upon the first Monday in November to meet again. The teachers also held a meeting and elected delegates to the Educational Conference which meets in Richmond thanksgiving week

Mr. and Mrs. R S Bondurant went to the Richmond Fair and they were wonderfully pleased with what they saw.

People are riding in automobiles to the cities to such an extent as to lessen the income of the rail roads and then too they carry great boxes of food with them and the hotels and restaurants don't get much money out of the country people.

I have been helping to make out the new tax tickets and I was surprised to find land assessed as low as $2 an acre and a whole lot of farms assessed at $3 an acre.

Everyone has plenty of food for the winter who did any farming and tobacco raisers are looking for a big price for tobacco and the county should thrive now.

Dress skirts are getting longer and dress goods getting cheaper.

Sportsmen will be glad to know that biras are plentiful.

Beef cattle are so low that fresh meat should be in reach of everyone. The Richmond market was crowded last week with very common beef cattle.

Mr. Jack Homese, of Amherst, was here buying a few choice cattle last week.

Miss Fannie T. White secretary and treasure of the "Lee Last Camp" association has been busy revising the lists of citizens in this county and an open letter will be sent out calling on the patriotic citizens of the county to rally to the support of the officers of the association in their effort to get our home county to raise such a fund as will inspire patriotic citizens all over the South to help honor the memory of the noble Captian by erecting a monument and build a pleasure park on the grounds that have been selected for the purpose. The officers of the association desire me to express their appreciation of what the local and city papers have done to help the cause along.

3,500,000 CHILDREN FACING STARVATION

Vast Relief Effort Launched by Eight Leading American Organizations to Avert Tragedy.

The most spontaneous as well as the largest consolidation of effort in the history of American relief and charitable organizations has grown out of the disaster which threatens 3,500,000 European children this winter. To the headquarters of every agency that dispenses American mercy overseas has come one steady cry for months past; the children, most helpless and blameless sufferers in the track of war, will perish by the thousands before next harvest unless America saves them!

When Dr. Livingston Farrand, chairman of the Central Committee of the American Red Cross, returned from a recent trip abroad, his report throbbed with the need of the children. From the feeding-stations of the American Relief Administration throughout eastern and central Europe came letters, cables, pleas of every sort. The Protestant churches sent investigators into after-war conditions and every report breathed the impending tragedy of starving and diseased children. Protestant, Catholic and Jewish, the child life of Europe is threatened with heartrending misery.

The European Relief Council, with Herbert Hoover as chairman and the whole power of American charitable thought and effort behind it, has been formed. It consists of Edgar Rickard, representing the American Relief Administration; Dr. Livingston Farrand, representing the American Red Cross; Felix Warburg, representing the Jewish Joint Distribution Committee; Wilbur K. Thomas, representing the American Friends' Service Committee; James A. Flaherty, representing the Knights of Columbus; Dr. C. V. Hibbard, representing the Young Men's Christian Association; Miss Sarah S. Lyon, representing the Young Women's Christian Association; Dr. Arthur Brown, representing the Federal Council of Churches.

It is the purpose of the Council to raise $38,000,000, in an appeal centering at the Christmas holidays, to the end that the situation regarding child life may be met. In every town and community of the nation, it is hoped, local committees, representing all the co-operating agencies will be formed to secure the vitally necessary funds. Of the amount sought, $28,000,000 will be used for basic food. For every one of these American dollars the local governments and communities aided will furnish two dollars, in the form of transportation, labor, guards, clerical help, cash contributions and such food supplies as are locally obtainable. No children receive the free food except after medical tests showing them to be seriously under-nourished. The remaining $10,000,000 of the fund is just as urgently needed for medical service to the children.

The European Relief Council will do much more than effect economies in the raising of the childsaving fund. It will, with the inspecting forces of eight great agencies, keep a constant eye on the administration of America's merciful gift, in order that there shall be no wastage and no tendency toward pauperization.

RICKETS DID THIS.

Before this five-year-old Vienna girl was operated upon in the American Convalescent Home her leg was even more horribly deformed from rickets and she was in constant instead of intermittent pain. Now at least her leg is straight again, and by degrees she is relearning to walk. Rickets is the aftermath of under-nutrition, and it is to cut down the harrowing prevalence of such disease as this among the children of Europe that eight American relief organizations are making a joint appeal under the name of the European Relief Council for funds to succor the millions that face a winter of horror. They are the American Relief Administration, the American Red Cross, the American Friends' Service Committee (Quakers), the Jewish Joint Distribution committee, the Federal Council of Churches of Christ in America, the Knights of Columbus, the Y. M. C. A. and the Y. W. C. A.
